Commoners Heraldry

Roll of Arms

18th of November of 2022

Members of the International Society of Commoners Heraldry (ISCH) group who have reached the age of majority in their respective nations may request that their Coats of Arms (CoA) be added to the ISCH Roll of Arms and to the group's armorial ceiling image. Such a request for inclusion/registration can be made via a post in the group discussion with the request and an image of their CoA.

To be included in the Roll of Arms, CoAs must adhere to the general rules of heraldry. The roll displays only the shield of arms (no motto, crest, supporters, or other external decoration). The member must provide either a good PNG image with transparent background or a JPEG image on a white background, approximately 600px in height. If the member does not have a good image they may request that the administrators create one, which they will do as time allows.

As well as the image of the shield of arms the following information is required: The member's legal name and native country or country of residence; Whether the arms are assumed, registered, or granted; The name of the registry or granting authority, and, in all cases, the year of assumption, registration or grant; And the name of the heraldic artist who illustrated the CoA.

After registration, members can request a certificate of registration in the ISCH. For such a certificate an image of the full achievement is required as well as its formal blazon in English. If the armiger has images of their personal badges, banners, penmons, or standards, some of these can be included in the certificate as well, and later also include them in their appropriate sections Roll of Arms. The achievement of arms as prepared for the certificate may not include any awards of merit, pendant medals, or attributes of nobility, nor should the blazon mention any such. Bearers of such attributes can be admitted to the Roll, but their achievements of arms may not be shown with these honors. We are a society of commoners, and register only heraldic devices appropriate to commoners. There is a nominal charge for the production of the certificate, which is provided to the member as a high-resolution PDF file, suitable for printing.

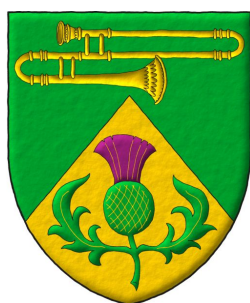

In this Roll of Arms, any words which may seem to indicate a title or noble rank are, in fact, the armiger's legal name or surname.

Disclaimer: Armiger's who wish to have their armorial achievements registered with the ISCH and featured in 1. The Society Roll, 2. Our Online Banner, & 3. Registration certificate must ensure they have all necessary permissions associated with the art work submitted. ISCH take no liability for breach of copyright due to the failing of an armiger to ensure that the artist they have commissioned provides permissions for usage of their work. Whilst this may shock you, some heraldic artists employed do not sell copyright when they emblazon your armorial achievement. Generally most artists are perfectly happy to see their work published to which they are accredited but a small group have been known to be difficult with issues pertaining to copyright and ownership. This falls beyond the remit of our group so we advise all prospective members to ensure they liaise with the heraldic authority, artist or whomever you have employed first before you submit your artwork to the ISCH administration team for inclusion into our Society. The Registration in the ISCH Roll of Arms reflects the ISCH good faith belief that the arms are those of the members, but do not and cannot create any claim or right to those arms that would not exist absent this registration.
